- Your child will have a choice of things to do that will encourage them to try new things and still be safe?
- Equipment can be moved and changed to give your child variety in their day?
- Is there space for your child to talk and play with other children, space for running and being noisy, space for trikes, as well as spaces for quiet play?
- Pictures and photos of real life images as well as child's creations are displayed?
- Are the pictures at the children's eye level?

Checklist: How To Choose a Great Childcare Centre

When watching staff with the children do they:

- Spend most of their time talking to and being with the children
- Join in with the children and their play
- Use each child's name, ask questions and respond to each child's answers warmly and positively
- Encourage children to ask questions, make choices and solve their own problems
- Help children learn about themselves, other people and the world around them
- Provide opportunities for children to participate in activities where they can explore everyday life, like assisting in preparing meals or helping to tidy up
- Allow children to make decisions about what they would like to do next
- Ensure regular times for children's meals, rest and relaxation
- Use a positive approach to guide children's behaviour
- Use satisfactory hygiene practices such as washing hands after changing nappies, use of gloves, disinfect toilet seats after use, baby change mats
- Discipline consistently, positive and clearly (no physical/verbal abuse, angry scolding, physical restraint, isolations without supervision, shaming)
- Integrate of kids with disabilities not just speak about integration
- Show respect for different cultures shown in pictures, toys, foods etc
- Encourage children to wash hands after toilets and before meals
- Encourage children to sit down while eating
- Attend to babies when they cry

Check also:

- Are children busy, relaxed and happy
- Is the noise a pleasant hum or a loud piercing din
- How they deal with transitions from one activity to the next (this can be stressful for children)
- How they deal with differences with development within their groups - advanced and slower development
- How you will be notified of what the child has done that day and how they are progressing

Final tips:

Try and observe the centre when the kids are likely to be difficult - before naps or just on arrival and children may be upset and you get a picture of how the centre deals with this.
